HE. Aisha Babangida, Founder of WenA, forms a strategic committee to advocate for SMEs

At the 2024 International Women's Day, event, HE. Aisha Babangida joined forces with 50 prominent female SMEs in northern Nigeria to form a strategic committee to advocate for SMEs in Nigeria. In what she has called the We Mean Business (WMB) Coalition, this advocacy group is dedicated to advocating for supportive policies for SMEs.

Scheduled to be officially launched at the AIB Founders' Award Gala, the WMB Coalition will hold frequent discussions on business leadership, policy advocacy, access to finance, and market opportunities for made-in-Nigeria products. This coalition will work tirelessly to ensure that female entrepreneurs have a voice in the policymaking process, paving the way for a more inclusive and supportive business environment.

Financial Literacy Program: Empowering Women with Financial Wisdom

Financial literacy is a cornerstone of successful entrepreneurship, and our Financial Literacy Program aimed to equip female entrepreneurs with the skills they need to thrive. Seven dedicated participants received comprehensive training on financial management, which they are now implementing in their daily lives and businesses. The program also included a mentorship session, providing an in-depth understanding of strategic financial planning. These women are now better prepared to navigate the financial aspects of their businesses, ensuring long-term sustainability and growth.

Harnessing Technology for Business Growth

In today's digital age, mastering technology and social media is crucial for business expansion. Our DIY Digital Marketing Training empowered 11 SMEs with the knowledge and skills to leverage digital platforms for market expansion. Through hands-on sessions and practical guidance, these entrepreneurs learned how to create impactful online presences, engage with their audiences, and drive sales.

This training is a testament to our commitment to helping female entrepreneurs stay competitive in an increasingly digital world.
